Office Of Student Services:
Vital Link Between Students & College

Registration day. You're new. You seem to know so little, and the little you thought you knew is nowhere to be found! You nervously approach the receptionist booth and ask for help. She directs you to the office of Student Services, and here the process begins.

In the office of Student Services, you begin your admissions process before going to talk with your advisor. You will also register for classes in the registrar's office. From that point on, whether you are looking for a tutor or would like to tutor, you are under the auspices of the department of Student Services.

Need counseling? Whether academic or personal, we have qualified professionals to assist you in all aspects of student life.

Student services provides a vital link between students and the college. We take great pride in the success stories we hear and the number of students who allow us to take a short bow in that success. Without the aid of a dedicated and loyal faculty and staff, our jobs would be in vain. For that, we are eternally grateful.

Congratulations to Frances J. Ratcliff, BCCC Board of Trustees member, who was inducted into the 1991 North Carolina G.O.P. Hall of Fame on November 16.
