The season of Christmas is with us again
With celebrations and gatherings with family and friends.
Feelings of goodwill will fill all our thoughts,
Presents and food will be shopped for and bought.

Amid the bustle and joy that Christmas doth bring
Our minds should remember one other thing.
That goodwill and love for our brotherly kin,
Should not stop after Christmas, but go on without end.

With these thoughts in mind and Christmas to come,
We wish each of you loads of holiday fun.
May Santa bring you what you desire
And leave many presents in front of your fire.

As the tinkling of bells fill the holiday night,
As the form of a sleigh slowly fades from our sight.
We wish each and every one, much Christmas cheer,
Have a good holiday, see you next year.

Harris
1994