Patricia Scott Woolard is BCCC Staff Person of the Year

The BCCC Foundation recently recognized Patricia "Tricia" Scott Woolard as the 1999 Staff Person of the Year. This award is given annually to a staff person elected by his or her peers. The Staff Association coordinates the campus-wide election. The program was established by the BCCC Foundation to encourage and recognize excellence on the college campus. Patricia Scott Woolard has been with the College for 12 years. She is the Coordinator of Educational Media/Graphic Services. She is also the College's webmaster. One of her nominators stated, "Tricia has performed above and beyond the call of duty. How many times have each one of us picked up the phone and asked for her assistance? Her immediate response is always, 'Sure, I'll be glad to help you.' She always seems genuinely eager to assist with each and every thing that is thrown at her."

Woolard was instrumental in developing the online courses offered at BCCC. She designed and produced the College's web site. "Her expertise in design and computer technology, in regard to media/graphics, make her a valuable asset to everyone on campus," said Foundation Director Judy Jennette.

Woolard has a BFA in Commercial Art and Graphic Design from East Carolina University. Her minor was Illustration. Upon leaving ECU, Scott Woolard became the graphic designer for the Washington Daily News. During her six years at the Daily News, she garnered numerous advertising awards from the North Carolina Press Association.

Awards for excellence have followed Woolard to her Beaufort County Community College position.
